

Spark

Spark is a blog, radio show, podcast and an ongoing conversation about technology and culture. Spark is an online collaboration. Leave your thoughts, stories, and ideas here, and together we'll make a radio show.

APR 2010
23

Spark 111 – April 25 & 27, 2010

Posted by Dan Misener under Audio, Episodes

On this episode of Spark: Virtual choirs, virtual mourning, and the story of stuff. Click below to listen to the whole show, or download the MP3 (runs 54:00).

You can also listen to individual stories below.

Virtual Choir

Eric Whitacre tells the story of his virtual choir – a group of individual singers, each sitting alone at their webcam, recording individual vocal parts for a large choral piece. The pieces are edited together, and together, they sing as a choir. (Runs 8:39)

- YouTube: Eric Whitacre's Virtual Choir – 'Lux Aurumque' (video produced by Scott Haines)

This Week's Show

Spark 124 – October 24 & 27, 2010:
Fam Bots, Shifting Reality, and Life Logging. Click to listen:

More about this show...

